Appendix No 1: Understanding the phonomenon of hate speech.

1. A comment in the Facebook forum put as a “joke” : Mum, what is tolerance, asks little Ahmed. Mum answers – this is when a white man works seven days a week, and we can go to his country and benefit from “social security”. But, mum, don’t they get mad about it, asks little Ahmed. They do, son, they do a lot and this is called racism .”
 - Who is the victim of hate speech In this example? What impact on the victims does the hate speech have?
 - What consequences can this example of hate speech have for people who identify themselves with the groups sharing similar opinions and for the whole society?
2. Photos on the social network placed by a young man visiting the extermination camp in Majdanek. In the first photo one can see a man performing the Nazi salute, his right arm extended in the air with a straightened hand. In the second photo the same man is pointing at the barracks with his thumb extended upward in approval.

4. A post appeared on the student portal "I'm living in this f...ing Lublin and I'm telling you, atmosphere is awful here, everywhere this ukrainian corny shit, at universities, supermarket tills, pubs, working as service staff or pissing their money up the wall (yeah, they get scholarships from our State). F Ukrainians, they are our enemies not brothers!!! You remember special Wehrmacht troops made of Ukrainians, famous for particular cruelty, by the way the same applies to Lithuanian troops... I give a beer to make people see that jerk and f him on the street or let ten people beat him , if you don't dare alone, no one will get offended.

5. A post which appeared below the article about gunfire of a mosque on www.euroislam.pl :

"away with muslims. . those who are writing that islam is religion of peace don't know what they are saying. It is a religion of peace only from its name, it seems. When muslims come to us and they will rule and change your cities and islam villages you will speak differently. When ISIS drops in then it will be something. Poland for Poles - painful truth, but it's the only solution. They don't come to EU to study the language, earn normally, only they choose countries like GB where they get everything free. So they aren't learning, aren't working, what for? So those who write that muslims are okey, they should think what they miss in europeans if they want the other ones. Maybe that europeans treat women as equals?"
